Mr. Owens was very thankful for the assistance, was mindful of the conditions attached to it, and was hopeful that perhaps State might be able to provide some information. He said that it just might be possible that the Congressman will request classified reports from us on those cases not covered.

on this.

3. (Unclassified - GLC) [Redacted] called to advise that David Martin, on the staff of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, has called him today and asked if we would have someone come up and review the map of Laos which the Committee proposes to include in [Redacted] testimony on the drug situation in Southeast Asia. They would also like some further specific data as [Redacted] is checking on this. We will be back in touch with Martin and try to meet with him on Monday.

4. (Unclassified - GLC) Talked at some length with Mr. David Carper, on the House of Representatives Legislative Counsel's staff, about procedural alternatives for House action on the Ervin bill as it was attached as Title II of H. R. 12652 by the Senate. (See Memo for the Record.)

5. (Unclassified - GLC) Received a call from Lt. Commander F. W. Levine, Production Coordination and Dissemination Division of the Naval Intelligence Operations Department, who said that the Secretary of the CNO executive panel had contacted their office in the interest of obtaining the transcript of Mr. Helms' testimony before the Foreign Relations Committee on qualitative improvements in Soviet missile systems. I told Levine that the last time the Director appeared before the Foreign Relations Committee was during its hearings on the SALT agreement and that his testimony concerned our detection capabilities. I added that there was a strict understanding with the Foreign Relations Committee that there would be only one copy of the transcript of our briefings (the Committee's copy) and that no copy would be made without the expressed permission of the Committee. Commander Levine said that the request that was put to him was rather vague and that he would get more details and be back in touch with me.
